A Spiritual Desire

Two sons of Erin, shoveling sand on a hot day, stopped to rest, and exchanged views on the labor question.

"Pat, this is mighty hard work we're at."

"Indeed, Jimmy; but what kind of work is it'd be like if ye could get it?"

"Well," said the other, leaning reflectively on his shovel, and wiping the perspiration of his brow with the back of his hand, "for a lousy acre, claw-hammer, I think I'd like to be a bishop."

A Grave Mistake

Mrs. Brown had a very bad cold. The other day while Mr. Brown was building a chicken house the minister called and asked him how his wife's cold was.

"Is that her coughing?" he inquired.

"No," Mr. Brown answered. "It's a chicken house."

Another Revolutionary
How do you like the actor who played the part of the king?"

"Ever since I saw him I've been in favor of a republic."

Last year solved the problem of what to do with all the worn-out automobiles. The owners just kept them going.

Notice to Resident Taxpayers of a Town, Village, or Hamlet

All Resident Taxpayers of any Town, Village, or Hamlet within the Bassano Municipal Hospital District wishing to take advantage of the minimum rate of $1.00 per day must pay the difference between his or her Hospital Taxes for last year and the sum of $6.00 to the undersigned before February 15th, 1933.

Henry W. Ford,
Secretary-Treasurer.

As I have to be away from my office during the latter half of January I have made arrangements with Mr. J. R. DONALDSON, at the Town Hall, to receive subscriptions during my absence, or they may be mailed to me. Please give location of property.

Subscription Price of The Mail Reduced--

During the "Weekly Payroll" subscription drive now being conducted by The Mail, we have taken into consideration the general financial conditions of the territory, and are making a reduction in the price of the paper if paid during the campaign.

Following is the subscription price for the different years and the number of credits your favorite worker will receive if paid during the campaign:

1 year	$4.00	5,000
2 years	$4.00	10,000
3 years	$4.00	15,000
5 years	$7.50	100,000

The above schedule of credits is in effect until February 13, after which time they are reduced.

You will notice that if you pay three years it will only cost you one dollar more, saving of one dollar. A five-year subscription can be had for $7.50, or at the rate of $1.50 a year, which is a saving of $2.50.

These prices are of particular interest to those subscribers who are a few years in arrears—allowing them to pay up their back subscriptions and up to the year in advance at the reduced rate.

Short Time Only
These reduced rates will only be in effect during the campaign, which ends March 2nd. After that time all subscriptions will be at the usual rate of two dollars a year straight.

If you are in arrears to The Mail, pay it up now and while you can get the reduced rate you have better pay a few years in advance. These prices apply to both new and renewal subscriptions.

The date that your time arrived is on the label of your paper each week, following your name. Look it right now and see how it stands.

THE SPECIAL HOSPITAL RATE

Residents of the Bassano Municipal Hospital District should not overlook the special arrangement where a non-resident of the town would be charged a reduced rate.

By paying a small sum of money before February 15 they are given a special rate of $1.00 a day hospital charges in place of the regular $2.50 a day rate.

Taxpayers, who may only a small amount in hospital tax also come under this special arrangement. By paying the difference between their hospital taxes and the annual assessment levied under the special arrangement, the non-resident becomes eligible for the reduced rates.

The plan is explained in an advertisement appearing in this week's issue of The Mail.

This is a splendid form of insurance. No resident of the district should be without it.

GOOD MEN FOR THE JOB

Councillors E. L. Skerritt, Dr. A. G. Scott and H. A. Holmes have been re-elected by the community to the council of Bassano. They will serve another two years as councillors, continuing their work of administering the affairs of the town in co-operation with the other members of the council, Mayor H. O. Dredge, W. S. Playfair, A. McKee, and E. P. Currie.

They are all capable executives, well versed in the business of town management. The ratepayers may rest assured the town's business is in good hands.

DAIYING DAIRY COWS

Announcement by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company that they will sell a part of their dairy herd at the Strathmore supply farm is being met with interest by those who contemplate the purchase of dairy cattle under the scheme proposed by the Dominion Agricultural Credit Association (the Beatty plan).

The Beatty plan is a well known western dairy scheme. It includes many of the finest Holstein cattle in Alberta, and some have been given top place at various stock shows in the province.

Domestic cattle would be a valuable acquisition to the farmer's dairy herd, or would be a splendid foundation stock for any farmer who desired to get into the dairy business.

THE AVERAGE MAN (by Margaret Sangster)

When it comes to a question of trusting.

Yourselves to the risks of the road, when the thing is the sharing of burdens.

The lifting of the load, when the man of peril or trial.

You may safely depend on the wisdom of the average man.

And skill of the average man.

The average man, who does his plain duty each day.

The small thing he is for doing.

On the homomelous bit of the way.

The average man, God bless him.

Who plots us still in the van,

Over land, over sea, as we travel,

Just plain, hardy, average man.

So, on through the days of existence

All mingling in shadows and shine,

We may come on the everyday hero.

Who was born to the swart grim of his calling.

And labors and earns as he can,

And stands at the last with the nobiest.

The commonplace, average man.

GIRL AND ANGEL

As Peter sat at Heaven's gate, a maiden sought permission, And begged of him, if not too late, To give her free admission.

"What claim hast thou to enter here?"

He cried, with earnest mien.

"Please, sir," she said, "twixt hope and fear,

"I'm only just sixteen."

"Enough," the white-haired guard said.

And the gate wide open flew,

"In the gate in the sky when every maid is girl and angel too."

"Go after business" has the sound of a good slogan until you remember where business has gone.

RATE ON CATTLE SHIPMENTS CUT

OTTAWA, Jan. 30.—Rates on live cattle imported from John of Gaunt to Birkenhead or Glasgow of $15 to $20 for large cattle, and $10.50 for smaller.

This reduction of 20 per cent in freight rates after some consideration by the steamship companies equals the difference in the price of cattle at present as compared with this time last year.

Announcement of this reduction was made by Hon. Robert McLean, Minister of agriculture.

GARLAND STRESSES FINANCIAL REFORM

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—(C.P.I.)—Financial reform, agriculture and unemployment are three subjects upon which the interest of the U.F.A. members of parliament are centered, said Hon. J. Garland, U.F.A. member for Bow River, who has arrived for his parliamentary term.

"We are determined there will be no sabotage of the Canadian National Railways," said Mr. Garland in this connection.

It was obvious that something must be done in the way of financial reform, declared Mr. Garland.

"We are determined there will be no sabotage of the Canadian National Railways," said Mr. Garland in this connection.

The first provides for cessation of all naval armaments, second, no further mobilization or preparation for further hostilities; thirdly, withdrawal of both Japanese and Chinese combatants from all points of mutual contact in Shanghai; fourth provides for a strict limit of 100,000 men in a neutral zone to be policed by neutrals, and fifth, prompt advances upon acceptance of the proposals toward negotiations to settle all outstanding controversies between the two nations.

EXPLOSION WRECKS GAS PLANT IN TURNER VALLEY

Calgary's natural gas supply was endangered for several hours Sunday afternoon when the pre-heating plant of the Royal Canadian Gas Company exploded, blowing out a number of pipeline valves and then igniting, causing damage estimated around 15,000.

The gas supply leading to the residential area was cut off at the Royal Canadian Gas Company's pre-heating plant in Turner Valley and methane gas, steam, water and chemicals with steam, water and chemicals in 30 below zero weather.

They managed to extinguish the blaze in record time, but not before serious damage was done.

As soon as the Turner Valley gas supply was cut off the reserve fields at Burdett and Foremost were utilized and although pressure dropped considerably, the gas company was able to supply Calgary consumers with enough gas to keep cooking stoves and furnaces in operation.

"MAY I USE THE 'PHONE?"

Empress of Britain as Floating Pay Station.

Madeira got a new thrill recently when telephone communication was established between that pleasant island and London, England for the first time.

The occasion was the arrival of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain at Funchal on a cruise around the world. The ship has one of the most powerful ship-to-shore telephone systems in the world and Madeirans were not slow to recognize a chance to make instant history.

During its stay there, the telephone operator of the ship called up London and put the callers through over 1,322 miles of water.

Report from the Empress of Britain, now at Colonia del Sacramento, indicate that the wireless telephone is a popular feature of the ship. The longest distance yet reported is Haifa, Palestine, to Montreal. The ship is now en route to New York where it will call on the Canadian Marconi station at Yarmouth and Drummondville, Quebec, and the Bell long distance telephone system.

Photos show: Empress of Britain at Madeira with Loo Rock in the foreground, and a typical bedroom fitted with telephone.

FIGHTING OFF SICKNESS
There are certain individuals who if they were something of which, as illness, or on fighting off sickness as they should be proud, or afeat to pride themselves on not giving in to boast of.

It is all very well not to complain of every ache or pain, and certainly there is no good purpose served in doing so. But there is also a desire to boast that presents itself. But the person who fails to recognize the fact that his body is not doing its work properly and requires attention, who also remains at work when he should be in bed, is making a grave mistake.

Sick persons may think that they are brave to disregard a persistent ache or pain, especially when it is not serious. They may even shorten their own days, but may cause themselves to be actually a menace to others, spreading disease to those with whom they come in contact.

It is not always that it does not appear to be a real cause for serious consideration, particularly if it is painless. However, it is neglect of such lumps that results in cancer of the breast, going on to a stage where there is little or no hope for the cure.

A persistent cough may seem to be of minor importance, but it may be due to tuberculosis, which, if not given prompt treatment before the disease becomes advanced, will require years of care and may prove fatal.

Shortness of breath may be the result of a falling heart, which, if given reasonable care, would serve for years, but which, without such care, will soon become so damaged as to render its owner practically helpless for the remainder of his life.

It is foolish as to pride himself on his neglect of valuable possessions. We do not admire the farmer who neglects his cattle, or the man who neglects his motor car, nor is it more admirable to neglect our bodies than it is to give attention to our cattle or to our motor cars. It is, in truth, much more important for us to care for our bodies because they are the most valuable of our possessions.

Worn-out organs of the body cannot be replaced as can be worn-out machinery, and we cannot purchase new bodies.

Do you have just seen yourself through life? To fight of sickness in the sense of neglecting your body is a very foolish thing to do. If you do so, you will likely pay for your foolhardiness in some serious illness, and you will be old before your time.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

FIGURATIVELY SPEAKING
Next to a beautiful girl what do you think is the most interesting thing in the world?

"When I'm with a beautiful girl I'm getting worried about statistics."

Todays we know more about the world than our forefathers did about some parts of our own world.

RAPTURE BEYOND

KATHARINE NEWLIN BURT

FOURTH INSTALMENT

Fresh from a French convent, Jocelyn Harlowe returns to New York to her socially select "mother," a religious, ambitious woman. The girl is welcomed into society and associated with the wealthy Felix Kent. Her Father, Nick Sandal, surprisingly enters the girl's room one night. He tells her he used to love her. Lynda thinks she is a good girl and decides to save her in the raw and to become part of her mother's society. Lynda visits her father in his dingy quarters. She finds four men playing cards in the room. One of them, Jock Ayleward, her father tells her, is like a son to him, but warns the girl he is a trifler. Lynda pays a second visit to her father.

Now go on with the story.

Events shaped themselves rapidly to make the girl a social trend-setter. Come fate, came an old woman with an estranged, very active and very lame, who gabbled about the city all day with a passionate enthusiasm for shopping, and went to bed at the end exhausted by her two nervous activities.

So, after Felix had been gone for four days — Jocelyn rather anxiously recognized that she missed him — there came a night, May night, when Jocelyn lay in her old trunk the pleated skirt and the small dark jacket, and the oshanter, and ran her fingers through her hair.

Her father found her father in the outer room of his lodgings alone. He was drowsy over a shabby hamper and looked so queer, so almost gnome-like over his papers, with his head down, that she felt a repulsion.

Perhaps he recognized it for what it was, but his dark distorted hands before his face an instant.

She wished to draw the poor face back, but her hands trembled. She killed the impulse with laughter, genuine laughter that could not wound her though it mocked.

"Oh, that?" he threw back at her hastily over his crooked shoulder, "I never said you had to be afraid, did I? That's just exactly the only kind of man I want you to marry."

Mr. Felix Kent easily sensed what was in his mind. His drink had risen, was not looking at her, but at the door. The step was mounting rapidly.

"From the river," he said.

"Are there?" he asked, "two years?"

"Look now, that big man with a white scar, dancing with the woman in the small table, dancing with three other couples, at the larger end of the room where it opened into a sort of alcove or bay."

"Aren't there some very queer people here tonight?" she asked.

"Are there? I hadn't noticed it."

"Look now, that big man with a white scar, dancing with the woman in the small table, dancing with three other couples, at the larger end of the room where it opened into a sort of alcove or bay."

"Of the hospital? That's why he was here, I suppose."

"From up the river. He got off with two years."

Lynda stopped. Her hand fell from that supple shoulder.

"I can't stay here, Mr. Ayleward. I must stay in a room with criminals!"

"Hello!" said Jock. "Go easy. If Mr. Padron heard you he might resent it."

"My father?" said Lynda ready to weep.

"He would certainly not want me to be here, Mr. Ayleward."

"He gave her a queer, long glance and took her back to the table where she sat for his check."

Lynda was distressed.

"I haven't asked you . . . you've told me nothing about Nick."

"May you'd better leave it to him. He would like to tell you himself, perhaps."

Lyda looked at him gravely and coolly, resting her chin on her hands in imitation of other women in the room.

Jock shrugged. "A week ago."

"Lynda, you're too young enough to be Sandy's son."

"Jock, you fool. Here's Lynda."

The mask snapped into place.

Ayleward turned to his wife.

"An old grim fixation. He hobbed and began to collect his earnings; for surely they must be, thought Lynda, some sort of earnings from his salesmanship!

When he had collected them, added them to what was left in his clothing and put the whole great mass into a drawer which he locked, Then he turned to go.

"Take her home, will you, Jock?" said Toni.

"I'm taking her and she ought to get back to where she seems to belong."

But it was nearly morning when he came back to furious provoking.

Ayleward came in at the door then, humming a dance air with a strange dazed wistful look on his young face.

On the way to get a taxi Lynda gripped Jock's arm.

"I'm taking her home, you must tell me about Nick."

"All right. I'll take you somewhere."

"Do you like to dance?" asked Alice.

"Not yet, I'm not dressed for a restaurant, and my mother . . ."

"You're dressed for the place I'm taking you to, only I will say you're bit stages."

"I'm not dressed for a restaurant he had given the driver he helped her out.

They mounted steep and narrow stairs which might once have led up from the kitchen of a palace, but which now led herself seated on a bench against a wall.

A WARNING TO SUBSCRIBERS

We believe every subscriber to The Mail wants to help at least one of the workers in our campaign in the biggest way possible. We wonder if you have understood that your subscription will help nearly a third more if you can get it to your favorite before Saturday, Feb. 13? There will be no further cut in the price -- the highest credits are now -- so there is nothing to gain by waiting. Give your subscription NOW. Make it for five years.

A WARNING TO CANDIDATES

RECIPES

Braised Lamb Dinner

Remove the bone from a shoulder of lamb and lard it with lightly seared strips of bacon fat in the thick part of the shoulder. Roll the joint and secure with the string and put it into a stewing pan with a lump of butter and brase gently over a modern fire till browned all over. Put in about eight small onions, a few carrots, a few turnips and one quart of broths, place the saucepan by the side of the fire and allow the contents to simmer until the onions are tender. Put the meat onto a hot dish, cut off the rind and melt the onions with the onions and the cooking liquor until it is reduced to a thick gravy, then pour it over the lamb and serve.

Scotch Broth

Put into a cold, rather more than a quart of good light mutton stock, two tablespoonsfuls of pearl barley (previously washed in cold water), a can of turnips, leek, onion, carrots, three or four sprigs of mint and let them all cook gently together with the required number of pieces, small chops cut from a neck of mutton. Season with salt, pepper, scraped parsley, a pinch of thyme and a dash of nutmeg. Add a few green peas. Let all simmer gently until cooked. Just before serving add half a cup of cream or new milk. For cold weather this will be found most appetizing and nourishing dinner. It should be kept to table in a deep casserole.

Delicious Bean Soup

Serve this on a cold, snowy day. Two cups bean soup, three cups of tomato juice, one cup of cream and one onion. Sauté the onion, chopped, in two tablespoons butter or bacon fat. Combine the beans, tomato juice, and onion and heat. Add a pint of cream, a few drops of the tomato-bean puree just before time to serve. Season well with salt and pepper and serve at once.

Ten-Time Dining

Honey toast is wholesome and delicious for tea in the winter-time. Make thin, hot buttered toast in the ordinary way, spread thinly with jam, reheat under the grill for a moment. Combine the grill with a few drops of honey. The tomato-bean puree again on Sunday at 12 o'clock.

Russian Salad

Vegetables left over may be used for Russian salad. Cut the cooked, cold vegetables into dice and spread in shallow bowls. Add some salad dressing, decorated with a few beetroot, tomato or celery, and fish oil with anchovy or other sauce liked.

Nourishing Corn Pone

One pint corn meal, one pint flour, one-half pint sugar, one-half pint butter-milk or sour milk, one-half pint sour cream, one teaspoon soda and two eggs. Bake in a moderate oven.

Duchess News

DUCHESS, Feb. 3.—The annual congregational meeting of the Duchess United Church will be held at the church on Monday night, Feb. 8, at 8 p.m. A social service in church work is urged to attend.

The Duchess Players will present their play, "The Absent Blinded Bridegroom," some time this month. Rehearsals are coming along fine and last night several devices for this purpose have been on the market, one of which is the large unwieldy wooden arm that swings up like a railroad crossing gate. This latest piece of requisitioning has been taken right and left signal incorporated in the stop light unit. But like the old triangle four-wheel brake indicator there seems to be definite advantage to standardization.

Warning Still Needed

Motorists who have wondered at the constant reiteration of the warnings issued against carbon monoxide gas should know that there is an excellent reason for it. In spite of all the educational work done, the statistics show that there has been established a new high record. Figures show a steady gain in the number of deaths every year. And, the rate of increase is greater than that of the increase in registered cars. Hence, the greater emphasis being laid upon the warning never to run an automobile engine in a small garage—even with the doors open—a second longer than is necessary, to drive out.

Safe Tires for Winter

Safety in winter driving is dependent upon a large amount of the tread of the tires. A deep, rugged tread on all four tires is the best insurance against skidding and accidents when driving on snow and slippery pavements. Worn smooth tires wet by the water from the highways makes the tire almost equally as slippery as ice or snow itself.

Valve Grinding

The purpose of grinding valves is to prevent the inlet and exhaust valves from leaking compression. The exhaust valve (which lets out the waste gas) when open, will eventually become pitted or warped. The inlet valve admits gas instead of ejecting a flame, and therefore does not pit as badly as the exhaust valve. When the valve is down, it should be included, and any exhaust valves found badly burnt or warped should be replaced.

Headlights Blink and Garage Doors Open

By means of the headlights' glass penetrating a small glass window in a garage door, they now swing open automatically. The circuit is broken, above the headlight, by the headlight penetrating the little glass window in the garage door and striking the light-sensitive surface of a photoelectric tube to a degree sufficient to make a switch. This causes the garage door to open automatically.

"It's a play we survive for half a century and have at excellent chance of living forever," William Archibald, the famous critic once wrote, "provided it is built upon a foundation as solid and permanent as life itself." And if it measures an appeal of universal value.

Perhaps it was this truth that prompted Fox Film corporation to sponsor a Movietone production of "East Lynne" for the screen. The story of "East Lynne" which was shown at the Orpheum Theatre Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week, Feb. 4, 5, 6, and 7.

And "Lynne" never appeared to greater advantage than she does on the ill-fated label who gives her the life of a gimp child from whom she was born. In the stellar galaxy are some other great stars giving convincing performances as Carlyle, and Clive Brook who was dashing, romantic, and thoroughly at home as the lover of Isabel.

Donald Colman stars in "The Devil to Pay" coming Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of next week, Feb. 11, 12, and 13. The Movietoneisation of "East Lynne" has given it a bigger heart. It is more than just a pale drama, romance and suspense. But more than even all these qualities it can boast of the fine acting incorporated in any cinema produced. Particularly, if not extracting, there was even the selection of a cast of stars who distinguish themselves superbly in this drama of tears and blasted love.

CLUNY LOSES TO HUSSAR

HUSSAR, Feb. 2—On Friday afternoon the Hussar intermediates defeated the Cluny team by a 3-1 count on the local rink. The game was fast and evenly contested. The two fans with their respective mothers were treated to a pin and tuck exhibition of hockey.

Montgomery noted for Hussar the sole counter in the primary period when he nudged the puck up the ice to his mate, giving Hussar the individual plus, giving Hussar the edge in the score.

In the second frame the local forward strings went through on a clever three-man rub which netted the two goals. The counter was J. Ball and the home team had a fast drive from Montgomery's assist. The period ended with Hussar on the favorable end of a 2-3 score after a session of exciting hockey.

Cluny had a heavy offensive in the final period with Maynard carrying the brunt of the charges. However, the local boys camped on hi strait throughout the entire game, giving him little chance to prove his point. At the final period Cluny left wing let fly a hard drive on the Hussar citadel.

Tierney, in attempting to deflect the shot, slipped it past B. Bell, local net guardian, scoring for Cluny. A few moments later Tierney scored the third and last marker from an assist by Montgomery. The game ended with the Cluny boys battling desperately to overtake the 3-1 lead which they could not do.

HUSSAR, W. L. NEWS

The Hussar W. L. had a delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. T. Anthony on Thursday afternoon with the neophytes. Mrs. J. C. Lester, in charge of our thirteen members and nine visitors present. Much interest was given a discussion over the resolutions to be taken up at the trustees' convention and the consensus of opinion was that the new constitution referred to the old method of marking examination papers in the higher grades. The Institute was not in favor of asking the government to consider this. Local school students, now that the field is overcrowded, say that they feel it is the only means for many to get a higher education, even if it does work a hardship on them, especially those on the matriculation salaries are reduced (also w.o.m. salaries are reduced), and payment delayed. The Institute voted to reduce the history prizes to $1 each for grades 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12, and $5.00 per year as minimum standard. It was decided to spend $7.00 on sunshine work locally. The provincial, constituency, and district dues were voted paid. They decided to send a delegation to the Lethbridge convention in March. Mrs. T. Burdett read an interesting paper on, "What to expect of 1938."

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Lester for her time and contribution to the W. L. fund, which stands $6. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. E. LeGrandeur, Feb. 25. A dainty lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.
